STUDENTS WITH FOUR YEARS OF ARTS EDUCATION AVERAGE 100 POINTS BETTER ON THEIR SATs.

Did you know that low-income students who are engaged in the arts perform better academically, have higher college-going rates, and are more likely to hold jobs with a future?

Yet there is an uneven access to arts. In fact, nearly 1 in 3 Americans feel students in their communities don’t have enough arts opportunities.

Our tools help you make a positive impact in your community.

Learn more at www.AmericansForTheArts.org.

Sources: National Endowment for the Arts’ The Arts and Achievement in At-Risk Youth (2012); The College Board’s College-Bound Seniors: Total Group Profile Report (2011); and Americans for the Arts Public Opinion Poll (2016).