To support the development and production of Home of the Brave, a new play by Lee Cataluna. Co-commissioned with the La Jolla Playhouse, the play was built from extensive interviews with military children, teachers, and service members, and speaks to the experience of being a child of military parents. First developed in Honolulu, the script was adapted for a tour to San Diego, and will be re-imagined for Hawaii. The production will be the centerpiece of an extensive outreach effort to engage the large military population on Oahu.
